I have a router with multiple routings like: Router::url('/admin/users/index', ['controller' => 'users', 'action' => 'index']), Router::url('/admin/users/view/{id}', ['controller' => 'users', 'action' => 'view', 'id' => '[0-9]+']); Is there any way to get the route name / admin / users / index from the Router? A: You can use Route components to find route by name. In your case: $routes = ['admin/users/index', 'admin/users/view/{id}']; $routes => ["admin/users/index", "admin/users/view/{id}"] $controllers = Route::components($routes); $controllers => [] You can use iterate over route and test if your route is in $routes array. If matched found controllers. foreach ($controllers as $controller) { $suri = $controller->getRequest()->getUri(); // Controller name $contName = $suri->getPath(); // Controller action $contActions = $suri->getQuery()->get('action'); $controllerActions = explode('/',
