Using Photoshop Photoshop has many menus (see Figure 2-5), buttons (see Figure 2-6), and other commands. Using Photoshop can be a somewhat daunting task. To make it easier for you, I present a logical guide in three sections that cover the basic Photoshop tasks and tools. **Figure 2-5:** The Photoshop menus offer a myriad of functions that are grouped into categories of tools, including Image, Layers, and Adjustments. **Figure 2-6:** This image was created with the features Photoshop offers. * * * The Most Powerful Image-Editing Tool Photoshop is the most powerful image-editing tool for professionals and artists because it offers layers, masks, transparency, filters, and many other features that cannot be found in other tools, including some applications from Apple and Adobe. Some of the special features of Photoshop include the following: Layers: Photoshop offers a layer-based editing system that enables raster image creation and altering with multiple overlays that support transparency. Masks: Photoshop offers built-in masking that lets you edit without damaging the original content of the image. Filters: Photoshop offers hundreds of filters — including many built in to add special effects to your images. You can modify each color or modify the entire image with the same filter. Fuzzy Masks: Fuzzy masks help you easily create, edit, and apply (or remove) a mask and adjust its shape by getting rid of dots or blobs in the layer mask without changing the actual area covered by the mask. Bitmap brushes: You can change colors, adjust curves, sharpen, apply a blur or use a brush to add your own texture to the layer, as shown in Figure 2-7. Paths: Many paths and shapes are built into Photoshop and can be dragged and reshaped to draw images, create special shapes, and even create paths from scratch with the Paths command. Smart Objects: Photoshop provides smart objects, which are sort of like a stand-in for a layer. A smart object provides the look and feel of a layer that you can apply to any part of an image, convert into an object layer, and apply different effects. It can't be moved or edited, but it can be added to any raster-based file. * * * Adjustment layers: Adjustment layers are a different type of

Q: Value getting extra line after join to table using mysql I want to join 2 tables with a 1-1 join. The problem is when I joined the column from one table, the column value getting extra line and showing like this Here is the screenshot of my project. Here is the code of join I used `Select div1.divId, div1.divName, div1.size, div1.material, div1.diameter, div1.materialSr, div2.divId, div2.divName FROM div1 JOIN div2 ON div1.divId = div2.divId JOIN product ON div1.productId = product.productId A: I think this is the problem. You have a trailing comma after the first JOIN statement. This makes the third JOIN statement to be the first JOIN. It should be like this: Select div1.divId, div1.divName, div1.size, div1.material, div1.diameter, div1.materialSr, div2.divId, div2.divName FROM div1 JOIN div2 ON div1.divId = div2.divId JOIN product ON div1.productId = product.productId Circulating immune complexes in hepatocellular carcinoma. The serum from a patient with hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC) contained high concentrations of complexes that bound to human hepatocellular membrane receptor. The complexes consisted of IgG, IgM and C3, and immunostaining in frozen liver sections of the HCC patients showed IgG, C3 and alpha 1-antitrypsin staining within the tumorous epithelium. Immunoglobulin and C3`

Q: "complex-root" JavaScript / math works differently when JS code is within a string I'm puzzled by this one. I've found a working solution, but the source for this specific code isn't clear, and I'm interested in why it works. The question is: why do both examples below not work? `var x = 2.9; var y = 3.2; var z = x - y; console.log(z); // 1.6, not 1.3 console.log(x - y); // 1.3 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 + 3.2)`); // 1.6 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 + 3.2)`); // 1.3 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 - 3.2)`); // 1.6 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 - 3.2)`); // 1.3 console.log(`(2.9 - 3.2) + (3.2 - 2.9)`); // 1.6 console.log(`(2.9 - 3.2) + (3.2 - 2.9)`); // 1.3 var x = 2.9; var y = 3.2; var z = x - y; console.log(z); // 1.6, not 1.3 console.log(x - y); // 1.3 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 + 3.2)`); // 1.6 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 + 3.2)`); // 1.3 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 - 3.2)`); // 1.6 console.log(`(2.9 + 3.2) - (2.9 - 3.2)`)`
