Q: Remove duplicate values from Array of objects with different counts of properties I have an array of objects, where each object has a PropertyA and PropertyB const arr = [{A:1, B:2}, {A:3, B:5}, {A:5, B:7}]; I need to remove the duplicate object objects with different counts of properties. I need to leave only 1 object, so if there are 2 objects with A property value, the B property value should be in the new object as well. In the above example: {A:5, B:7} is the only object that should be left. The output should look like: {A:1, B:2} {A:3, B:5} The order does not matter. I know I could do it by concatenating the objects, and removing duplicates using lodash's groupBy. But, I am expecting a solution to this problem using ES6 features. I am looking for a solution, which does not involve creating a new array, but modifying the original one. A: You can try below solution const arr = [{A:1, B:2}, {A:3, B:5}, {A:5, B:7}]; const newArr = arr.reduce((result, item) => { const newObject = Object.assign({}, item); const {B} = newObject; if(arr.some(obj => obj.B == B)) { result.push(newObject); } else { newObject.B = B; result.push(newObject); } return result; }, []) console.log(newArr) The invention is generally directed to an implement for pulling a tractor. More specifically, the invention is directed to an implement including a pair of tracks disposed on opposite sides of a tractor axle to pull a tractor.
